

Arjun Kapoor heads to IIFM

The Indian Film Festival of Melbourne (IIFM) has an unlikely guest in Arjun Kapoor. While film festivals a decade ago were restricted to independent cinema primarily, in a refreshing turn of events, Kapoor will grace the festival with his presence to join panel discussion about "The Future of Cinema".

Talking about the same, Arjun shares, "The master class is about the future of cinema and I'm looking forward to exchanging notes with the other members on the panel, and with the audiences most importantly. This diverse panel of speakers, each with an incredible body of work is what Indian cinema is about today. This is my first time at the festival and I'm looking forward to meeting people from Australia. Understanding the perspectives of people from different places is always fun. I am very happy to get this chance to speak on Indian cinema at the prestigious Indian Film Festival in Melbourne and to experience the city's delights."
